

Introduction to
ART THERAPY and
AUTISM
 with Jacqueline Stuedler
 at the Provincial Autism Centre

Thursday, November 3, 2005
7.00 pm - 9.00 pm

For more information or registration, contact:
 Michael Price at 902-446-4995 or programdirector@autismcentre.ns.ca

Introduction to Art Therapy and Autism

Art therapy with children or adults on the autistic spectrum is not a „cure“. The focus is on helping with the emotional and psychological development. Art making and the creative process are a potent form of communication and can help to find relief from overwhelming emotions. An integral part of art therapy is the relationship between the client and the therapist.

Jacqueline Stuedler is an experienced Art Therapist. She has worked in Switzerland for several years with groups and individuals, children and adults, with diverse needs. She is looking forward to share her experiences and to present a hands-on activity with clay and colour.

Jacqueline Stuedler www.artjst.net

Introduction to ART THERAPY and AUTISM with Jacqueline Stuedler at the Provincial Autism Centre

Thursday, November 3, 2005 7.00pm - 9.00pm

Name: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ Province: _____

Postalcode: _____ Phone: _____

Registration until October 31, 2005 (space is limited)

Provincial Autism Centre

Michael Price
 1456 Brenton Street
 Halifax, Nova Scotia
 B3J 2K7